

Awards for Community Involvement 2009

The South West Planning Aid and RTPI South West 'Awards for Community Involvement' are now in their second year. The awards have been established to celebrate and reward best practice in engaging and involving local communities in planning decisions - among the public, private and community sectors.

Entry deadline: Friday 18 September 2009

Awards categories

This year there are three awards:

- Best practice community involvement in a planning application by a developer
- Best practice community involvement in a development plan by a local authority or government agency
- Best practice community involvement led by a community body.
